Castles in Southern England

Vortrag in englischer Sprache mit Hans Peter Münster

Due to a mild climate and a rich and beautiful countryside Kings and their nobles have always liked the area south of London between the Thames and the Isle of Wight and beyond. Here they built fortresses, palaces, hunting lodges and coastal defences, later followed by more modern residences and luxurious country houses. So today we find a unique selection of picturesque buildings which draw endless scores of visitors from all over the world.
